

Burning to Plan

Wanting to use fire as a tool to manage ecological health or protect environmental and built assets from fire?

Tamar NRM and TFS Bushfire Ready Neighbourhoods are holding a 1.5 day fire planning workshop principally for landholders with conservation covenants and, if space, those involved in Land for Wildlife. The workshop is open to participants state wide, and will be held at the Tasmanian Fire Service Northern Region HQ Launceston.

Friday 21st July, 1 - 5pm & Saturday 22nd July, 9am - 2pm
TFS Northern Region HQ, Launceston

Participants will develop a fire plan for their own property using photos, maps, fire history, vegetation, fuel loads, topography, etc. Experts will be on hand to assist with concepts and questions.

Topics include:

- Some key ecological principles
- Legal requirements (focusing on covenants)
- Fire behaviour
- Risk mitigation

RSVP essential by 30th June to Gill Basnett, Tamar NRM
0438 265 792 or gill.basnett@launceston.tas.gov.au

Project funded under a grant from the Australian Government and supported by the Tasmanian Government
